

GLOBAL AVIATION SPECTRUM SUMMIT SPONSORSHIP

About the Event

The Global Aviation Spectrum Summit creates the platform for key stakeholders and decision-makers on spectrum allocation, regulation, and usage to gather for a discussion on how aviation can best prepare for the future global environment as technology moves towards more efficient and effective usage of spectrum. The two-day event, streaming live on December 13 and 14, will address current and new entrants' needs, systems adaptability, how aviation and other industries can work together to maximize the usage and how EUROCAE and RTCA can be responsive to the industry's needs to create industry standards for regulators.
